Candidates for a Master’s degree in any of Georgetown University’s graduate programs may pursue the Certificate in Eurasian, Russian and East European Studies. The certificate requires proficiency in one of the languages of the region and fifteen (15) credits for courses that represent an interdisciplinary approach to Eurasia and Eastern Europe. Courses are selected in consultation with the CERES Supervisor of Academic Programs, Sarah Radomsky.

CERES offers a variety of courses. A sample curriculum could involve 5 courses from among the following:

- GEST 530 Balkan Instability
- GOVT 450 Politics of East Central Europe
- GOVT 443 Russian Foreign Policy
- GOVT 555 Postcommunist Politics
- GOVT 578 Conflict Resolution in the Former USSR
- HIST 378 The Ukrainian Conflict and its Roots
- HIST 671 World War II on the Eastern Front
- INAF 351 Post-1979 Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran
- INAF 465 Government and Politics of Turkey
- REES 410 Law & Disorder from Socialism to Post-Socialism
- REES 427 Migrants and DPs in Eurasia
- REES 428 Central Asian Politics in Anthropological Perspective
- REES 453 Caspian Energy: Theory & Practice
- REES 455 Demography and Health in Eurasia
- REES 461 Contested Territories and Divided Societies
- REES 525 Security Issues in Russia and Eurasia
- REES 600 Business Dynamics in Eurasia
- RUSS 491 History of the Russian Language
- SEST 582 Politics of European Security
- SEST 677 Russian National Security Policy
- TURK 363 Anthropology and Islam

Other courses may count toward the certificate. For more information, Sarah Radomsky, Supervisor of Academic Programs at ser57@georgetown.edu or (202) 687-5508